Significance

Sovereign Silver™ is the only product on the market with photographic proof of particle size.

A silver product derives its benefit from particle size and particle energy. The only way to confirm this visually is with an electron microscope. The images above were taken at 100,000x magnification.

Natural-Immunogenics' laboratory has, to date, tested more than 85 commercial brands of colloidal silver and other silver products. The results confirm Sovereign Silver's leadership in the marketplace.

Some manufacturers use a protein or other stabilizers to keep silver particles in suspension or to increase concentration. This only compromises the energy and quality of the formulation, rendering most of the silver inactive.
